Our non-blinding screens are high quality screening surfaces that help to minimize pegging and blinding while still separating flakes and splinters. These screens provide accurate screening and sizing where other products fail, due to high percentages of open area when compared to square openings, resulting in higher throughput. The wires in these screens vibrate independently, which keeps the screens clean.

All non-blinding screens are available in oil-tempered and stainless steel wire, and can be hooked with any edge style to fit all screening equipment.
